

ITALY AND POPE ON VERGE OF EPOCHAL AGREEMENT

This Year May See Rapprochement on 'Roman Question' Resulting in Victory for Vatican

Solution of the "Roman question," involving the relationship between the Vatican and the Italian government since the end of the temporal power, in 1870, seems as a probability of the near future. Progress of the negotiations is told in the following article by Salvatore Cortesi, for the past twenty-five years correspondent of the Associated Press in Rome.

By Salvatore Cortesi

ROME, Feb. 10. (AP)—The year 1928 perhaps may become as noteworthy in the religious history of the world for the solution of the "Roman question" as is the year 1870 for the fall of the Vatican's temporal power. It is possible that the figure of King Victor Emmanuel II, of that day, who transformed the Apostolic Palace of the Quirinal into the royal residence of the new King of United Italy, may be remembered throughout the centuries as contrasted to that of Premier Mussolini as one who brought about conciliation between church and state.

Above them will tower two popes: Pius IX, who, by his celebrated non possumus (we are not able) rendered impossible for nearly sixty years not only understanding, but even a modicum of rapprochement between the Vatican and the present Pontiff, who after about six years of negotiations, study and deep reflection, has decided to give religious peace to Italy, the state of the papacy, and assuage the anxiety of Italy concerning the status of the church in the Eternal City.

(The "non possumus" was the form of ecclesiastical refusal by which Pius IX declined to accept the law of guarantees adopted by the Italian Senate in 1871 concerning the prerogatives of the Holy See and the relations between state and church in Italy.)

At the beginning of 1927, Premier Mussolini, speaking on the Roman question, said:

"It must be concluded and settled by next Easter."

Unforeseen circumstances have prevented this, notwithstanding willingness on both sides and the efforts and ability of the chief negotiator, who remains in the dark and is almost unknown, the Rev. Tacchi-Venturi. He is a Jesuit, a scholar in history and literature, and many years secretary of the Company of Jesus, and has dedicated the greater part of his activity to a monumental work which will contain the history of the Jesuits.

The Rev. Tacchi-Venturi knew Mussolini before the latter assumed office as Premier, but their acquaintanceship grew very close after the advent of the Fascist regime chose him to negotiate the purchase of the Chigi Palace, which was about to be bought by the Italian government.

GIVES IT TO HIM
The present Pope, Pius XI, resumed the project which he already had submitted to Pope Benedict XV, who did not carry it out because of lack of funds.

Rev. Tacchi-Venturi went to see the Fascist Premier, submitted to him the Pope's proposal and concluded: "I am instructed to ask Your Excellency for what sum you would be willing to sell the Chigi Palace to His Holiness."

The Premier responded promptly: "I sell nothing to the Pope, but the Holy Father I present the library."

Thus the conversations for the conciliation between church and state began and they could scarcely have started under more favorable auspices. Rev. Tacchi-Venturi, the taciturn go-between, but remained entirely in obscurity. Finally, however, his name leaked out.

IMPORTANT ITEMS

According to reliable reports, the following are practically the main points agreed upon for the solution of the Roman question:

- (1) The Italian state grants to the Holy See an extension of its territory, which will include the extraterritoriality as enjoyed by the apostolic palaces and the Vatican gardens since 1870. The new territory to be added is on the southeast of the Vatican gardens and includes the beautiful Villa Doria-Pamphili, one of the largest near Rome, surrounded by a magnificent park more than four miles in circuit. In 1860 Innocent X prohibited it to the Olympic Maidenhair, his brother's wife.

The villa was occupied in 1849 by Garibaldi's republicans, who were the republican troops of France, the former fighting to keep the Pope out of Rome. He died on the proclamation of the Roman republic, and the latter to bring him back and re-instate him as absolute ruler. Part of the estate was sold by the late Prince Doria to the Russian Prince Abramovich, whose widow still owns it. This property, also comprising an extensive park, gardens, various buildings and remarkable works of art, is included in the territory to be ceded to the Pope.

GIGANTIC DEBT

(2) Italy further grants to the Pope an indemnity for the loss sustained by the Holy See through the fall of the temporal power, in addition to the payment of the allowance established by the Italian government, passed by the Italian Congress on May 13, 1871—for the upkeep of the government of the church. Hitherto the Pontiff has

Lebriz and Costes Tendered White House Luncheon and Later Presented to Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—President Coolidge and the American Congress today formally welcomed the French trans-Atlantic fliers, Lebriz and Costes. A luncheon was given in their honor at the White House where Ambassador Claudel, Assistant Secretary William C. Carr of the State Department, and Gen. Pershing also were guests. Later the aviators visited the Senate and House, where they were received with applause.

Before the White House luncheon the aviators were welcomed informally at the National Press Club by newspaper men of the capital. J. Fred Lewis of the Baltimore Sun, president of the club, received them and showed them through the new clubhouse.

The fliers set aside the afternoon to visit Bolling Field to see that their plane, the Nungesser-Collis, is in condition to undertake the flight to New York and the proposed transatlantic flight a few days later.

On their visit to the capital, Costes and Lebriz first went to the House from there they were accompanied to the Senate by Speaker Long-

Reed's STAND IN DOUBT
Senator Caraway, Democrat, withheld his vote because of a general pair with Senator Metcalf, Republican.

Reed, Democrat, Missouri, and Keyes, Republican, New Hampshire, were left paired with no announced measure as to how either would have voted.

Senator Jones of Washington, Republican, denounced the Le Follette measure as "wholly unwarranted and unjustified."

"Its passage," he said, "amounts to nothing more than a declaration of war against the people and the people are not competent to select their own President."

"I am not in favor of the resolution and I await with interest the action of members of that party which shall vote against it."

"Does the Senator favor a third term for the Chief Executive?" asked the President Coolidge.

"I would not be ungrateful in the case of a great emergency to give a third term," he said. "This resolution is entirely unwarranted."

"Wouldn't that condemn the Senator?" asked Senator Glass of Virginia, Democrat.

"I am casting my vote against a third term," he answered, "and will trust to the whirling of politics."

"POLITICAL GESTURE"
Senator Edge called the resolution "a political gesture."

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania also opposed it but said he believes that it is "a good thing for the people to re-elect a President for two substantial terms."

He does not think President Coolidge has had two "substantial terms," declared President Coolidge, who had the nomination of the President again without opposition if he had not issued his statement that he does not choose to run. He said the President is sincere.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (Exclusive)—Former Representative William H. Hill of Binghamton, manager for the Hoover-for-President campaign in this State, today a partial survey of the State said today that Secretary Hoover stands to get the votes of all New York delegates to the Kansas City convention.

Mr. Hill, who is the editor of the Binghamton Sun, said that the Hoover men throughout the State are conducting their efforts in behalf of the Hoover campaign wholly within the regular Republican organization and adhering closely to the understanding reached at the recent Secretary Hoover conference of leaders and county chairmen—that the ninety New York delegates shall go unpledged to the Hoover campaign in an open field for all the aspirants for the nomination.

Servants in the three-story white mansion of the Richards said that Anastasia, who is the daughter of the late Grand Duke, had departed and that all of the family had gone to New York. The house, which adjoins Col. H. H. Rogers' estate, was heavily guarded Thursday night.

STILL VEILED
No answer was given to callers at the Richards' town place, 124 East Fifty-fifth street, and at the headquarters of Richard's hostelry-improving business, it was said, he is out of the city.

The true identity of the young woman, who is the daughter of the late Grand Duke, remained as veiled as it has been for four years in the past. She had landed from the belated Berengaria on Thursday morning. Her mission in this country, apart from the off-repeated but unconfirmed story that she is to visit Mr. William H. Leach, the Princess Xenia, is still a secret.

There are forces, however, who are not the American public accepts her story. It is reported that a group of Russian singers now in New York, convinced that the young woman is the daughter of the late Grand Duke, it can be made her story pleasant. It also is said that Anastasia could make a statement to the public.

AMERICAN KILLS SELF IN PARIS

Suicide of M. C. Bryant, Former Artillery Officer, Shrouded in Mystery

PARIS, Feb. 10. (Exclusive)—Social and banking circles in Paris are mystified as to why M. C. Bryant, former lieutenant-colonel of artillery in the war and secretary to Col. James Addison Logan, Jr., when he was on the Reparations Commission, committed suicide in his Paris apartment early this morning.

Despite the efforts of the American Consulate to keep the affair and all details surrounding it secret, reports leaked out this afternoon causing extreme perturbation to the entire American colony.

According to the meager reports available through the consulate, Mr. Bryant shot himself in the heart with a small revolver some time after midnight in his apartment in Avenue Victor Hugo.

Mr. Bryant, who was about 35 years of age, had a distinguished war record, but never returned to America after the war. He was secretary to Col. Logan, when the latter occupied a powerful place on the Reparations Commission. Mr. Bryant was well known by sight, but always was a sort of mystery man. He never married, as far as anyone knows, and always kept his affairs and movements, other than perfunctory social relations, secret.

When Col. Logan left the Reparations Commission to represent Dillon, Reed & Co. in Europe, he gave Mr. Bryant a job in the cable department of the firm.

The consulate notified the relatives in Austin, Tex., that the deceased was in Paris under the name of M. C. Bryant, and that the total of which will be in the millions.

Auto Chamber Denies Truck Lines Need Control

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The question whether bus and truck service on the nation's highways should be supervised by the Federal Bureau of Investigation was denied today by the American Automobile Association.

be regulated like railroads, or in a somewhat similar manner, came before the Interstate Commerce Commission today with the opening of hearings on the long-studied subject. Arguments for and against such control were heard.

Leading the proponents was A. F. Thom, general counsel of the Association of Railway Executives, who declared that the importance of motor traffic on highways now demands that truck and bus lines be subject to control practically identical cars with exercised care. Railroad Operators of such services, he said, should be required to obtain a certificate of necessity before undertaking operations, and thereafter should be governed as to rates and schedules.

Thom's position was supported by E. H. Strasser, attorney for the Wash. bus. Railroad.

A. J. Broese van Groenou, representing the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that no public agency now is justified in hampering highway truck operation by any form of regulation. Neither shippers, operators nor manufacturers of trucks see any such need, he insisted. He added that public regulation of passenger buses might be justified.

WOMEN PLEAD FOR DRY PLANK

W.C.T.U. at Conference in Bay City Urges Action

Republicans and Democrats Warned of "Crisis"

U. S. Atty. Hatfield Speaks on Obstacles He Meets

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10. (P)—A resolution asking the Republican and Democratic national parties to incorporate a "dry plank" in their party platforms at the next "nominational" conventions, was passed by the National W.C.T.U. regional camp.

George J. Hatfield, United States Attorney, northern district of California, was a speaker.

A warning against the "dangers of a wet President in the White House" was sounded by Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, president of the W.C.T.U. in Southern California. She spoke at the opening session yesterday.

"Remember that the President makes out the national budget, and that a wet President can cripple prohibition enforcement," she declared. "and remember that a President can negotiate treaties with foreign countries and can thus stop smuggling or permit it."

Mr. Hatfield characterized the coming Presidential election as the greatest crisis since the Civil War.

"If the 20,000 prohibition officers in this State were really enforcing, California would be a dry state," he added.

Mr. Hatfield outlined the legal machinery for enforcing the prohibition law, declaring that the United States marshal is the only one authorized to enforce the law.

Mr. Hatfield declared that the constant change in personnel is another difficulty in the way of enforcement. He said he has seen some three sets of men in the last two years who have been in office, adding that he understands most of the present agents.

DEALERS FIGURE BUYER'S WORTH

Men's Clothing Store Rates Customer at $85 a Year On Its Accounts

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (P)—The retail merchants have it all figured out how much the average man is worth from their standpoint.

The National Detail Dry Goods Association is told that a customer on the books of a men's clothing store is worth just $85 a year, while on the accounts of a store handling women's clothing specialties a customer is worth $235.

The department store's customer is worth $362 a year, the furniture store's $37—once the home has been furnished—and the shoe store's from $35 to $68, according to the size of the family.

Mr. Hatfield declared that the constant change in personnel is another difficulty in the way of enforcement. He said he has seen some three sets of men in the last two years who have been in office, adding that he understands most of the present agents.

SENATE LOCKED AGAINST SMITH

Friend and Foe Say Illinoisian Can't Break In

Doubt Expressed That He Even Will Try

Deneen May be Forced to Aid Rival Candidate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (Exclusive)—Illinois will continue to have only one member of the Senate until next winter at least, in the opinion of Senators of both parties and all factions.

That Frank L. Smith, appointed yesterday by Gov. Len Small as United States Senator after relinquishing his elective credentials through resignation, has not the slightest chance of being elected on the basis of his appointive credentials was the universal opinion.

Both friends and opponents of Mr. Smith were of the opinion that the Illinoisian will not attempt to obtain his seat unless he is re-elected next November.

The assumption is that Mr. Smith will be too busy with his primary campaign to waste time in Washington during the next two months and that if re-nominated another sitting of his on the floor of the Senate in the spring will not win him a seat and may do his campaign harm.

Mr. Smith is conceded to have a chance of getting his seat if re-elected next November but even then the hint is that there may be a formidable effort to exclude him on the ground of his having been shown in acceptance of contributions from public utility magnates in his 1926 primary campaign.

Whether this hint would take the form of a question of his right to take the oath or whether he would first be permitted to take the oath is a question.

The Smith case was referred to on the floor of the Senate today by Senator Deneen, Republican, Illinois, one of the few Democrats who voted to seat the Illinois man.

Senator Deneen was one of those who contended that the Senate had no right to deny him the oath.

"You have made a hero out of Smith," said Senator Deneen during the debate on the La Follette anti-trust term resolution. "He has been reappointed and he'll be re-elected and finally you will have to seat him. If you had kicked him out the way I would have helped you to do it, you would have been rid of him."

That Senator Deneen, Republican, Illinois, may be forced by the fractional situation in Illinois to support a candidate against Mr. Smith in the April primaries is considered a possibility.

Senator Deneen left this afternoon for Chicago where he will participate tomorrow in conference of his friends in connection with primary tickets in Cook county.

Senator Deneen indicated that he is at present interested only in the Cook county situation and will not discuss the possibility that he may figure finally in a State-wide fight against the Small-Thompson-Smith combination.

SENATE PROGRAM

The program of the Deneen group thus far has not gone beyond the decision to put a complete county ticket in the field and to support candidates for precinct committeemen throughout the county and also to put up delegates for Lowden for the Presidential nomination in each of the ten Cook county districts.

PHONE COMPANY PRESENTS CASE

Completes Evidence in Move for Rate Increase

Eight Bay Cities Now Will Begin Rebuttal

Interrelationship of Two Concerns Defended

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10. (Exclusive)—During an interlude today in the effort of the Telephone Users Association to have the American Telephone and Telegraph Company make a party to the rate increase sought in the bay district by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, the latter completed presentation of the exhibits by which it hopes to have the California Railroad Commission authorize new rates which will bring in an additional $7,000,000 in annual gross revenues.

Although James T. Shaw, vice-president and chief of counsel for the Pacific company, formally declared completion of the rate increase presentation, there remains submission of demurring testimony and briefs by the eight bay cities engaged in the fight, and subsequent rebuttal by the phone company, so that it probably will be several weeks or even months before the matter is fully in the hands of the commission.

RELATIONSHIP DEFENDED

Six executives of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company took the witness stand today in an effort to show the interrelationship of their organization with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, as the "telephone trust" is of the utmost benefit to the local company, and to deny that the Pacific company is merely a dummy organization, obeying implicitly and without question orders of the parent organization.

The Railroad Commission ruled that for the present such testimony may be included in the record, but with the proviso that if subsequent developments in the attempt to prove the interrelationship of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company is a California utility make it advisable the testimony is to be stricken.

Those who testified were C. S. Casassa, general auditor; F. J. Reagan, general commercial manager; F. E. Pienger, chief engineer; H. J. Tinkham, general plant manager; C. T. Black, assistant to the vice-president; and J. H. Corcoran, traffic manager.

SERVICES RENDERED

The gist of their combined testimony, supported by voluminous records, tended to show the following points:

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company gave services to the Pacific company in 1927 which would have cost the latter $5,469,500 if it had been forced to have the work done itself. For these services the Pacific company paid $2,366,176, a saving of more than $3,000,000.

Casassa estimated annual value of American Telephone and Telegraph services to his department at $3,500; Reagan placed the value to his department at $105,000; Pienger said the use of 7000 American Telephone and Telegraph patents and the "inestimable value of research and development" meant $1,700,000; Tinkham testified to a saving of $122,000 in his department; Black said the company saved 21.8 per cent on all purchases by employing the Western Electric Company, owned and controlled by the American Telephone and Telegraph, as its purchasing agent, and Corcoran said it was worth $400,000 to his department.

ERROR DISCOVERED

While Casassa was on the stand, Dion Holm, special counsel for San Francisco in the rate fight, discovered an $18 error in the total of a column of figures and proceedings had to be stopped while it was corrected.

Commissioner Wheat, cross-examining, asked if the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph was not "obliged" to accept American Telephone and Telegraph "instructions."

"They are merely for our guidance," replied Casassa. "Did you ever go against them?" "Yes, in several instances. In the matter of addressographs, for instance."

THE MAN WHO BEAT THE DARK

"ONLY those who lived when night was might realize what Thomas Alva Edison did for the world when his untiring experimentation produced a flaming wire within an airless bulb of glass.

The traveler in the well lighted street, the driver of a motor car that pierces the dark with its electric beams, the captain of a ship that shoots its searchlight for miles, the doctor illuminating the inside of an ailing head... how would they feel if some evil genie could take back the lamp that Aladdin Edison gave to them? Today he is 81 and still at work. May his birthday cake be sweet and the fourscore and one candles on it of his own invention."

GIRL BORN HERE HELD AT BORDER

Sophie Maloof Barred from Entering Country

Detained at Line by Claims of Sheikh of Douma

Ruler Says Maiden Native of
His Domain

SANTA BERNARDINO, Feb. 10.—A Syrian girl without a country, Sophie Maloof, 18 years of age, dark-eyed, is held just beyond the wire fence boundary between the United States and Mexico by the sheik of Douma, Syria, whose power has reached half-way around the world.

Mrs. Maloof, an attractive type, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Maloof, now of California, but formerly of San Bernardino.

It is the sheik of Douma, it is developed at the latest of a number of hearings before United States immigration officials at which the girl has demanded the return to her native land, who is blocking the way by the assertion that the official records of his domain show that Mrs. Maloof was born in Syria.

Attorney John A. Hadadler, who represented the girl's parents at the hearing conducted in California, announced that he is preparing proof that Mrs. Maloof was born in Los Angeles, by which he expects to open the immigration barriers and permit the girl now residing in Mexico to rightfully join her parents in the United States.

It developed that the girl's brother, Assad Maloof, told the French authorities in 1924 that the girl was born in Syria to obtain passports and permit a quiet departure from Syria via France. Mrs. Maloof and her brother had been in Syria on a visit.

When the girl and brother attempted to return to the United States, entering at Calexico, she was denied entry as a native of Syria, the Syrian quota of immigrants had been admitted and the girl was theoretically locked out.

A check through the American Consul in Syria developed that the sheik of Douma had shown that Mrs. Maloof was born in his country. Attorney Hadadler contends that the records may be based on the brother's statement and points to the fact that he will produce witnesses to prove Mrs. Maloof's birth in Los Angeles, December 26, 1915.

The name of Maloof in Syria, Mr. Hadadler explained, is as common as that of Smith, Brown, Jones or White in California. It is also probable that there are other Sophie Maloofs who were born in Syria, when the keeping of official records is somewhat slipshod.

Mrs. Julia B. Hixon, apartment-house owner at whose place the girl was born in Los Angeles, her parents claim, will be called to testify that the sheik of Douma is incorrect and the depositions of other witnesses will be read into the hearing records purporting to prove Mrs. Maloof's birth.

Since the girl's failure in her attempt to return to her parents' family moved to Calexico, just across the line marked by a high wire fence Mrs. Maloof is attending to her ground, but unhappy because of her detention in a foreign land.

If her parents fail in the attempt to open the legal way to her entry she will cross the line and submit to arrest for illegal entry and then present a contest of deportation, the attorney said. The case has attracted national prominence coming before the personal attention of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

SANTA PAULA FIRE LOSSES NEGLIGIBLE

SANTA PAULA, Feb. 10.—That Santa Paula has been fortunate in having few large fires during the past five years and that the loss to taxpayers has been negligible was shown today in a report made by Fire Chief Sam Primmer. Since 1928 Santa Paula has had only one fire, six fires or a blaze about every fifteen days. These fires, however, it is pointed out, have been minor, altogether ones of lesser importance as far as loss was concerned. A map showed that the largest fire, which was centered in the southeast portion of this city which is the old section of the city, was a fire fighting equipment consists of a large fire truck. It is manned by a crew of volunteers from many lines of business.

DEATH OF COEN DEMANDED

Arguments Begun in Hanford Murder Case After Youth Takes Witness Stand in Own Defense

HANFORD, Feb. 10. (AP)—Perry Allen Coen, alias James J. Allendale, sat today in the courtroom here and heard representatives of the people of the State of California ask a jury to find him guilty of murder in the first degree and to let the punishment stand at death.

Coen heard this plea made in the opening argument of the State, made by Assistant District Attorney Clarence Wilson. During the day the defendant had finished telling his version of events on the night of December 2 and the morning of December 3, last, at the artist home here when Mr. and Mrs. G. Mace Artist were fatally beaten over the head. Coen again repudiated his so-called confession and his testimony at the coroner's inquest, and his testimony at the coroner's inquest, and his testimony at the coroner's inquest.

In his argument to the jury Wilson pointed out that with the exception of the defendant's testimony at the coroner's inquest, the State's case is based on circumstantial evidence. The judge's instructions to the jury will follow and the fate of Coen will probably rest with the twelve jurors who retire to the jury box.

One week was consumed in selecting a jury and two weeks in the taking of testimony.

When court convenes again Tuesday morning, Defense Attorney J. C. Russell, appointed by the court to defend Coen, will make his argument and will be followed by Attorney J. Frank Prior, who will close for the defense. The judge's instructions to the jury will follow and the fate of Coen will probably rest with the twelve jurors who retire to the jury box.

DEPOSITOR ROBS ALTADENA BANK

Assistant Cashier Tied With Leather Thongs

Recognizes Lone Bandit as Former Patron

Loot of Unmasked Man Said to be About $1500

PASADENA, Feb. 10.—A lone bandit entered the Altadena National Bank, held up G. A. Sheldon, assistant cashier, at the point of a gun and escaped with about $1500 in cash after tying Sheldon with leather thongs, shortly after 1 p.m. today. Sheldon was alone in the bank when the robber entered.

Sheldon recognized the bandit as a man who opened an account at the bank early in January, under the name of Clyde Brooks, 1624 North Lake avenue. Investigation by deputy sheriffs under Capt. Monteleone of the Altadena substation revealed that Brooks is unknown to the address given and the officers believe that the name he gave is likewise fictitious.

Sheldon looked up from his desk in the back of the bank to peer into the muzzle of the robber's revolver. The bandit told him to keep his face to the wall. Sheldon complied with the demand and the robber's case where he scooped up the contents of the cash drawer.

DEATH-RIDE VERDICT IN

Long Beach Man Convicted of Attack on Girl and Her
Male Companion, to be Sentenced Wednesday

LONG BEACH, Feb. 10.—Abner Weaver, Long Beach oil driller, whose spectacular effort to force a woman and her male companion into a "ride with death" on the night of November 6, last, was today convicted in Department A of Superior Court here on two charges of assault with a deadly weapon. Judge Henry M. Willis, presiding, set next Wednesday as the date for sentence.

Weaver was tried before a jury on two charges of attempted murder, growing out of an alleged attack on Edward C. Woodman, prominent automobile body builder of Long Beach, and Miss Erma Huggins, Long Beach stenographer, on a lonely road east of the city, where he had forced Woodman at the point of a gun to drive his car, containing himself and Miss Huggins, Weaver had waylaid the couple in front of the girl's home and, as Woodman drove up, Weaver is said by police to have entered the car, pressed a revolver against Woodman's side and ordered him to drive out into the country, where Woodman declared he said he would kill Woodman and Miss Huggins. Woodman complied and drove his car until it became mired in a mud hole.

Weaver is accused of firing five shots, one of which passed between the shoulders of Woodman and Miss Huggins. Weaver, to gain possession of the revolver, shot at the girl, who lost it into the weeds nearby. Weaver, apparently subdued, walked away, but engaged in trying to free his automobile from the mud hole and, armed with a club and a bottle, again attacked the couple, police charged in their testimony. Woodman fought back with a tire iron and so well did he wield it that it struck Weaver on the head and Weaver was sent to the hospital.

The jury, headed by Mrs. Mary P. King, as foreman, deliberated less than two hours and returned a verdict of guilty of assault with a deadly weapon on Miss Huggins and a similar verdict on Weaver's attack on Woodman.

APPORTIONMENT BILL UNDER WAY

Redistribution of Seats in Congress at Hand

House Census Committee to Tackle Job Tuesday

California Heaviest Gainer Whatever Basis Used

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (Exclusive)—Announcement was made today that the House Census Committee will meet Tuesday to take up Congressional reapportionment and the bill which is being introduced by the committee may report will be passed at this session of Congress.

Reapportionment is long overdue, being supposedly mandatory under the Constitution after each decennial census, but political considerations have held it up ever since the 1920 census.

Several bills are pending before the committee and under any one of them California would gain from four to six seats in the House.

The gain would be four if reapportionment were made on the basis of 1920 census and six if on the estimated population figures for 1930.

The latter basis is expected to be adopted, as the 1920 census has been subjected to a great deal of attack as inaccurate, due to the fact that it was assembled during the winter months.

Congressman Tilson of Connecticut, Republican House leader, said today that in his opinion "Congress should not longer delay reapportionment," and the same view was expressed by other Republican leaders in the lower branch.

It is generally accepted that the size of the House will remain at 435 members and under any scheme that could be adopted California would gain more than any other State.

Michigan would be next with four more Representatives on the 1930 basis, and Ohio, third with a gain of three.

PANAMA CANAL TOLL TOTALS $180,295,060

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The aggregate of tolls collected for transit of the Panama Canal since the waterway was completed in August, 1914, is placed at $180,295,060, in a report received by the War Department.

The total amount of cargo carried through the canal was 200,741,014 tons, and the number of ships which passed through the canal was 16,000.

The toll revenue from the canal has risen to $6,000,000 in 1917, the first complete year of operation, to more than $20,000,000 in 1927.

SWING-JOHNSON BILL TO STAND

House Committee Announces Hearings Closed

Chairman Smith Chokes Off Flood of Measures

Ending Argument Only Way to Speed Action

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (Exclusive)—Chairman Addison T. Smith of the House Irrigation Committee served notice today that his committee has closed hearings for this session of Congress on Boulder dam legislation and will stand pat on the Swing-Johnson bill, to be reported to the House March 15.

He was prompted by the tendency that has developed among those interested in the Colorado River situation to formulate new bills, and advance them as compromise measures.

Two such bills have made their appearance within the last couple of weeks, the latest being those drafted by Francis C. Wilson, Colorado River Commissioner for New Mexico, and L. Ward Bannister, attorney for the city of Denver, and sponsored by Senator Phillips of Colorado, chairman of the Senate Irrigation Committee.

"NO MORE DELAY"

"If we were to reopen the Boulder dam question for further hearings and take up these new bills it would involve going back to the department for new reports and would result in a great deal of delay," Chairman Smith said, "and we of the House committee do not propose that there shall be any more delay if we can avoid it."

There will be plenty of opportunity to make changes in the Swing-Johnson bill when it comes out on the floor of Congress.

Although no definite statement has been made at the Senate side, it is believed the committee there likewise will decline to hold further hearings. Senator Phillips was away from Washington today but at his committee room it was said he regarded the Wilson-Bannister bill as plans to introduce a merely offering suggestions for amendments from the floor and not as a substitute for the Swing-Johnson measure, demanding a reopening of hearings.

The Boulder dam conference at the Interior Department devoted their time today to reading the new Phillips bill and discussing it section by section. It was agreed that some of the features of the bill were meritorious and will be offered as amendments to the Swing-Johnson bill if the formal conference to come later so decide. Special approval was given today to the provision for turning the power and of the Boulder dam project over to the three lower basin States after the government investment has been repaid.

GRATUITOUS ADVICE

Another section attracting favorable attention provides for an advisory committee from the lower basin to sit with the Secretary of the Interior on financial affairs of the project, with authority to direct immediate reimbursement to Arizona and Nevada if the revenues are sufficient to warrant it.

The conference still is waiting for the addition that will make it a more workable group. State Senator Fawcett Crawford of Arizona wired ahead today it may be Tuesday before they will reach Washington.

Instead of Monday, but that they would join the representatives of the other Colorado River States and put their shoulders to the wheel as soon as they arrive.

It is believed they will come largely prepared to follow the recommendations of Michael Murphy, sole Arizona River Commissioner attending the compromise conference up to the present time on the questions that have been threshed out thus far.

Republicans in Senate Plan to Speed Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—With several major pieces of legislation ready for attention, the Senate Republicans today directed their steering committee at a party conference to meet on Monday with a view to mapping out a definite program.

On the Senate agenda now is the Norris resolution for government operation of Muscle Shoals, the House bill for the return of alien property and the Walsh resolution for an investigation of public-utility power companies.

JOHN D., JR., ON HAND FOR QUIZ

Rockefeller Will Take Stand This Morning

Senate Committee Trying to Unravel Oil Puzzle

Another Witness Found to be Absent from Country

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., commanding figure in the Standard Oil interests, arrived here tonight from New York in response to a subpoena for his appearance tomorrow before the Senate Teapot Dome committee, which is seeking to unravel the mystery of the Continental Trading Company of Canada.

Upon his arrival Mr. Rockefeller declined to make any statement, saying with a smile that he will do that at 10 o'clock in the morning, which is the hour he is to take the stand before the Senate committee.

A subpoena for Rockefeller was issued after Robert W. Stewart, head of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, had failed to heed Rockefeller's admonition to answer all questions put to him regarding transactions of the Continental Company.

The Senate investigators intend to ask him what Stewart has told him, but in his telegram to Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor of the investigation, accepting service of a subpoena, Rockefeller said he can furnish no more information than the committee already has obtained.

HAS STEWART'S ROOMS

By coincidence the head of the Rockefeller Foundation was assigned to the same hotel suite that Stewart occupied a week ago tonight under guard of a deputy sergeant-at-arms after a Senate warrant for his arrest had been served upon him.

The committee was advised today that another of those it hoped would be able to throw some light on the Continental liberty-bond transactions is absent from the country. He is Wayne O'Neil, son of James R. O'Neil, former president of the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, who is living abroad and who is wanted as a witness in the Fall-Sinclair oil-conspiracy trial.

United States Marshal Moore at Brooklyn telegraphed the Senate sergeant-at-arms that he has been unable to locate young O'Neil at Garden City, L. I., where he formerly lived and has been told by the postal authorities that he sailed for Italy on September 9, 1927, and that his mail now is being forwarded to him at Villa San Patrivio, Bordighera.

BOND CLEW REVEALED

Chairman Nye of the committee disclosed today that a checking up showed that the $800,000 in liberty bonds which young O'Neil turned over to the Prairie Oil and Gas Company in 1926 after the Continental transaction first came to light were not the bonds of the series bought with the profits the Canadian corporation made by purchasing and selling oil in this country.

This is regarded as indicating that the original bonds representing O'Neil's share in the profits of the sale of oil to his own company had been disposed of by that company before he made a special trip from Paris to Montreal to make restitution to his company in May, 1925.

ATTEMPT BLOCKED TO SHOW GOVERNMENT TRAILED JURIES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—An attempt by the defense in the criminal conspiracy proceedings against Harry F. Sinclair, William J. Burns, and their associates to prove the United States government had for years shadowed juries was blocked, at least temporarily, today by government objections.

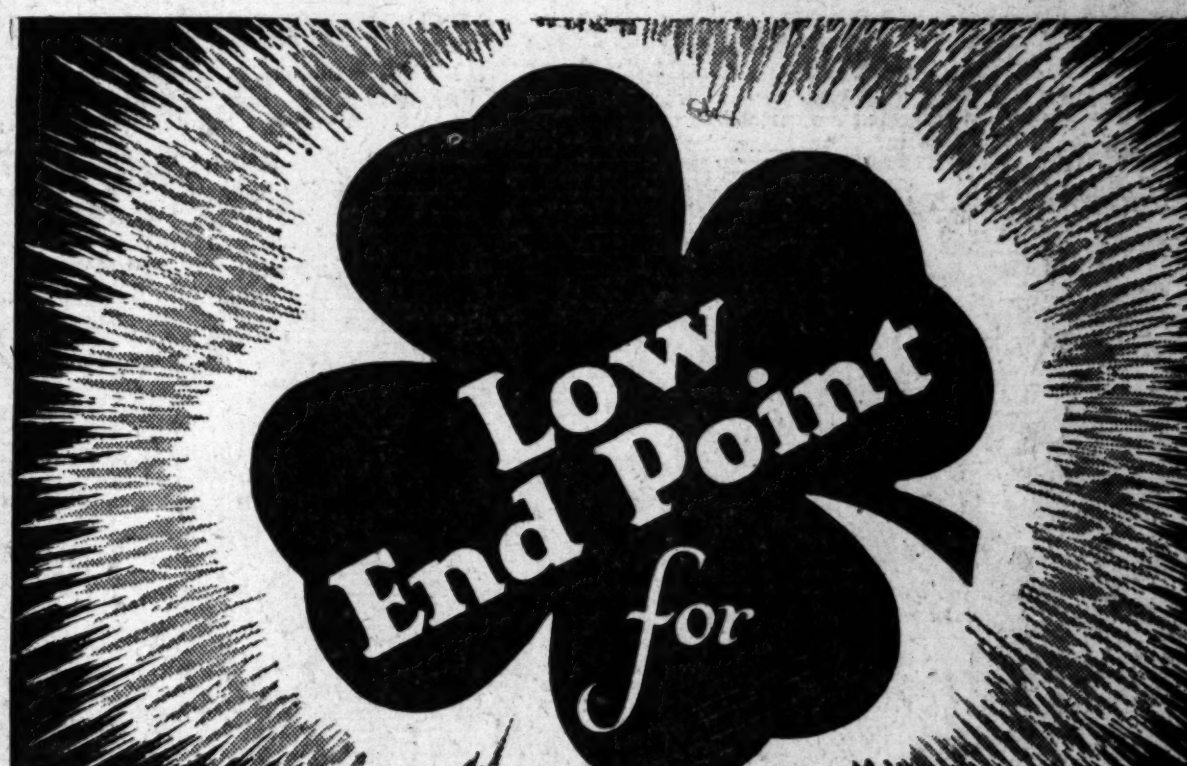

Coincident with this development, it was disclosed that government counsel will ask to proceed against Sinclair alone in the event Albert B. Fall is unable to return to Washington for the retrial of the Teapot Dome criminal conspiracy case, set for April 2.

In the contempt proceedings today the defense, calling John R. Kinsel, a former Department of Justice agent, sought to show that jury shadowing by the government is a common practice. After the government's objection, defense counsel contended that they have a right to introduce such evidence to show that Sinclair was acting in good faith when he employed Burns detectives to shadow the Fall-Sinclair jury.

The court's ruling on the question went over until Monday as O'Leary had not concluded his argument when court recessed over the week-end.

Addresses Made at Conference at Pomona College

CLAREMONT, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The day session of the conference of the Pacific Southwest Society of Political and Social Science, which is meeting at Pomona College, ended today with the addresses of the experts on Latin American conditions in this country.

The chief blame for the Mexican situation today is directly ascribed to the policy of the United States government as it is now being conducted.

Other speakers at the conference, which was opened by the Rev. John J. McLaughlin, president of the Pacific Southwest Society, were Dr. Charles H. Smith, professor of Latin American history at the University of California, and Dr. J. H. Coatsworth, professor of history at the University of California.

As Contemporary Cartoonists Saw Lincoln During Crisis of 'Sixties

A GROUP of rare Lincoln cartoons and caricatures portraying The Emancipator as he appeared to the comic artists of the Civil War era, are presented herewith. Of the people and for them, intensely human and convictions, Lincoln furnished the cartoonists of the period with a subject which never lost its appeal—one way or another. These cartoons are selected from an extensive collection, and, in the main, deal with the

"Our Great Iceberg Melting Away" is the apt title of this inaugural cartoon of March 9, 1861. President Buchanan, cold and reserved in comparison with the human Lincoln, is pictured as the iceberg dissipating under the warm rays of the rising Lincoln sun. The cartoon is indicative of the manner in which the nation generally regarded the newly elected President before he officially entered the White House.

"Three to One You Don't Get In," is the title of this cartoon published in the waning summer of 1860, just before Presidential election. The three balls of the pawnbroker's sign symbolize Douglas, Breckenridge and Bell. President Buchanan is the watchdog guarding Uncle Sam's doorstep.

Horace Greeley, the famous editor of the New York Tribune, perturbed Lincoln not a little with his constant plea for abolition. This cartoon of September 6, 1861, is titled "The Monstrous Minstrel" and shows the editor, playing his tune, being ordered away from the Lincoln doxstep.

In This Cartoon of November 22, 1862, the President is shown at the throttle keeping the "Union" on the "Constitution" track by chucking "Democratic malice logs in the firebox to be consumed." The artist has convincingly portrayed a situation that existed at the time.

This Cartoon, Published Early in 1861, shows Lincoln endeavoring to preserve peace even after the fall of Fort Sumter. As a juggler he is pictured striving to maintain a balance between peace and the Fort Sumter episode, an attempt in which he failed.

The Great Emancipator in a Quandary. "What Will He Do With Them?" asks the caption. "Darn these here blackbirds! If nobody won't buy 'em I'll have to open the cages and let 'em fly!" are the words attributed to Lincoln by the cartoonist.

The Vast Respect for Lincoln's Judgment in handling vexing foreign affairs is conveyed in this cartoon published shortly after his inauguration. "Boys, I reckon I wouldn't," Lincoln is telling England, France and Spain, all of whom would like to take a hand in American affairs.

Published on July 4, 1864, in the heat of the war, the cartoon shows Lincoln appealing to the North for support in the final effort. It is entitled "Once More." "Of the North, arise again!" Lincoln pleads. "Come," the nation answers.

Typical of the Spirit of Northern Complacency of that date (May 4, 1861) is this cartoon. Lincoln watering his military garden from a can labeled "Spirit of '76." "What charming plant is this?" asks a Southerner. Lincoln answers, "That is rare in this country—rarely seen here. It grows only in the South." The Southerner replies, "I shall shortly bear the Jeffersonian Davisians." The President's call for volunteers at this time was met by a deluge of volunteers from the North.

Baltimore Automobile Salon Opens Today

BODY BUILDERS' CRAFT SHOWED PUBLIC'S INTEREST IN BODIES

Bodies of Foremost Designers Seen

Henderson, Official from Largest Builder, Gives Views on Coach Work

Swinging its critical stares that in years gone past pierced the inner-most metallic components of the offerings of American motor-car manufacturers, to a more slightly and more pleasant task of pleasing the eye and adding bodily comfort to our every-day transportation, the public's visible interest in motor car body construction and appearance is today bearing down more heavily on bodies than on any other part of today's motor cars.

That, in the opinion of E. J. O.
Henderson, sales and advertising manager of the Fisher Body Corporation, a visitor here for the opening of the Baltimore Salon, has been the most outstanding factor forcing manufacturers to keep abreast of their desire in transportation.

With the great experience of the world's largest body manufacturing plant to back up his opinions, and in direct contact through his own organization with the wishes of the public, Henderson, is ably fitted to give an exact idea of the changing fancies of the public. He declared in an interview here that no automobile manufacturer today can think of turning out a car without giving greatest consideration to two things:
how it looks, and how well it satisfies the modern demand for comfort and convenience.

"There has been a great deal written about the modern machine plans, designed for rapid and accurate production of the heart of the car—the motor and chassis," he stated.
"Much effort has been spent in bringing assembly lines to a high pitch of efficiency. But when the mechanical processes have been completed, the resulting conveyance is not a motor car. It needs the right kind of a body before it can be sold.

front to an enclosed drive body within a few minutes. The canopy is mounted over detachable aluminum forms which give it the contour of the roof. The entire removable section can be rolled up and stowed away in a special compartment under the front seat-back, accessible from the outside without removing the cushions, when the curb side door is open.

The sedan or inside drive body type retains its popularity because of its utility.

Body designs by three of the world's most famous exclusive designers, including Detrich, Inc., Le Baron, and Locke, are in the exhibit of the new Chrysler Imperial line of cars for 1928. These are in addition to the standard types offered by the Chrysler Imperial "80" model.

The custom bodies on display are mounted on the longest and largest chassis Chrysler has ever offered, powered with a 112-horsepower motor, and in their construction are improvements that have won acclaim throughout the ranks of automotive engineers since the introduction of the cars several weeks ago. These will be among the newest types on display during the Baltimore Salon.

A recent production of the Fisher Body Corporation advertising department, a booklet entitled "Color Creations from Nature's Studios," heralded as one of the most beautiful printed books ever devised by a motor-car manufacturer, will be a unique souvenir for visitors at the Cadillac-La Salle exhibit at the salon.

BIBLE READING BANNED
Michigan Attorney-General Finds It
Unlawful in Schools

LANSING (Mich.) Feb. 10. (AP)— Bible reading and teaching of religious subjects, sectarian or otherwise, in the public schools of Michigan is unlawful, Atty.-Gen. Potter has ruled.

In an opinion yesterday the Attorney-General held that such practice must be discontinued by reason of provisions of the State constitution.
The ruling, according to State Superintendent of Public Instruction Pearce, affects a number of normal schools, Michigan State College and scores of grade and high schools throughout the State. At these schools, he said, it has been the practice to read the Bible in class, and courses have been provided for "presentation of the general principles of Christianity."

The University of Michigan, it is stated, is not affected, since religious training there is conducted in a separate building not maintained by the State.

M-G-M. LOANS BEN CHRISTIANSEN

First National Coaxes Director Over for One Film; Lena Malena Has Big Role in "Diamond Handcuffs;" Mervyn Leroy and Wife Will Go to Honolulu

BY GRACE KINGLEY
When First National heads made up their minds that nobody except Benjamin Christianesen could re-act to the directing of "Night Birds," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, to whom Christianesen is under contract, decided not to be easy in the matter, and therefore consented to loan the director.

Milton Mills will be the star of the picture, the leading lady not yet being assigned.
The original name of the story was "The Hawk." It is a story of the underworld.
Following the completion of the picture, Mills will probably start on his directorial career.

Lena Malena With M-G-M.
That young German actress, Lena Malena, who appeared in De Mille's "The Sign of the Cross," has just signed with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Mills will play one of the principal female roles in a picture called "Diamond Handcuffs," to be directed by John McCardy. The picture is that of a dusky alien, according to the reports from the studio. It has been getting positive reviews.

The other girl in the picture will be played by Dorothy Sebastian, who was assigned yesterday.
The story is a mystery yarn by Carey Wilson, with Bradley King writing the adaptation. The picture is to begin in about ten days.
Mervyn Le Roy to Honolulu
Unless Mervyn Le Roy finds it necessary to begin the direction of "The Sign of the Cross," he will leave for Honolulu tomorrow. He is directing a picture called "The Sign of the Cross," which is a story of a young man and woman who are in love. He is also directing a picture called "The Sign of the Cross," which is a story of a young man and woman who are in love.

Hopper, Jr. With Mother
William De Wolf Hopper, Jr., son of the musical comedy star and of Hedda Hopper, had a birthday in California and is now with his mother.
"He is 13 years of age, and is five feet ten inches tall," said Hedda yesterday. "I suppose if he wants to act he is in school and I want to keep him there a while longer."

Democratic Note, or Something
Ford racing has replaced whippet racing in the Paramount studio. Devotion of the new sport increases daily as the famous ones accept delivery of their new Ford.
The latest Ford owners who are proudly whizzing around in their 1933 models are Emil Jennings and Wallace Berry. No sooner had the rival Ford owners arrived than a race was arranged. Ernest Lubitch, director of "The Sign of the Cross," composed of his parents and two other stars was the signal to get ready.

Reunion Note
When Buster Keaton starts his new picture at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, he will be surrounded by the friends of his mother and his father. The committee in charge of the benefit, announce that they have so many acts and so many friends that the show probably will run until near dawn.

Benefit Stage is Made Ready
The stage is set for the benefit to be given at midnight tonight by the Maquers Club at El Capitan Theater for the destitute families of Maj. Wallace McCutcheon and Lieut. Earl Metcalf.

Ray Hatton's Double Life
For the very first time in his many years of picture experience, Raymond Hatton plays a dual role. He appears as two different characters in the latest Beery-Hatton comedy for Paramount, "Partners in Crime," which has just been completed.

Players in Warner Cast
Roy del Ruth yesterday added three players to the cast of "Five and Ten Cent Annie," which he is directing for Warner Brothers. They are Gertrude Astor, Thomas Ricketts and Douglas Gerrard.

Daily Wise-Crack
Alice White came dashing up to Mervyn LeRoy yesterday, during the making of scenes for "Harold Teen," and joyfully related that something had just told her she looked like a certain famous blond actress when said actress was 12 years old.

Balieff Prizes His Russian Friendships
Nikita Balieff, founder of the "Chaive-Souris," now at the Belasco, has made many notable friends among all friendship prizes most that with the late Carl of Russia, who was one of the first visitors when Balieff opened the Belasco Theater in Moscow. The Carl's patronage was the signal for aristocrats, who booked to this stellar playhouse, and started a stampede for seats.

Dying Man Refuses to Name Assailant
Refusing to divulge the names of his assailants, Harry Wilson, 35 years of age, of 1020 North Broadway, is dying in the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Wilson, who says he is a newspaper solicitor, was found lying in an alley near Thirteenth and Hill streets last night, after having been struck on the head. His story is that Harry Marks, 1038 West Fifty-eighth street, and Lloyd Bell, 1329 West Twenty-fifth street, who informed police that the man was lying in the alley, were questioned by Detective Lieutenant Stewart but were unable to shed any light on the mystery. Wilson knows who assaulted him, the detective believes.

(Exclusive).—Salem Cross, aged 34, former cashier of the Raymond Deposit Bank, a branch of the Union Banking Company, Marysville, charged the plea of not guilty to guilty of embezzling $17,000 and was sentenced to four years in the Ohio penitentiary by Judge Fowler at Marysville. Monkeys Do Monkey Shine for Firemen

The fracas started when five monkeys housed in the show window of the pet department at Germania department store at 500 South Main street, began to vent their frantic tastes on the window glass and attracted the attention of Charles Gould, a newspaperman on the corner. Gould took a look toward the window and saw damask covers filling the monkey home. He awoke in an alarm.

When frenzied broke the window open from inside, the store, the monkeys made a dive for the flower department, took refuge in the upper

The smoke originated in an electric heater in the wall of the window which had become short-circuited. It did not flame, however, and no loss of property resulted.

in Experiments With New Lights

For the purpose of proving the adaptability of incandescent equipment in shooting actual interiors away from studios, a number of pictures of Wampas baby stars and other actresses were taken using these lamps instead of the usual arc lights in the lobby of the Roosevelt last night. Will Hays, Douglas Fairbanks and other film notables well as their chief officials of the General Electric Company, watched the tests.

If this and other experiments to be conducted under the auspices of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, American Cinematographers and Association of Motion Picture Producers, prove successful, the entire system of lighting in the taking of motion pictures may be revolutionized. The new method will be far simpler, cheaper and will speed up the shooting of scenes at least double, according to Tony Gaudio, who conducted the tests. Results will be made public.

Denies His Bones Kept Lone Vigil in Canyon Cabin

declared in a letter received here today by his sister, Mrs. R. Kadish, 16 Alfred street. The U. S. La Bue expedition, while exploring the canyon recently, found the skeletal remains of a man snafled at a table on the wall of the cave. The man was wearing a checkbook, bearing date in 1904, and to the belief that the man was Mendenhall.

About that time, Mendenhall said, he and his brother went prospecting in the canyon and were forced to abandon part of their equipment. He said another prospector found the checkbook and afterward was killed.

FOOLISH QUESTION

A Negro cook in one of our Southern States answered the telephone one morning and a cheerful voice inquired, "What number is that?"

The cook was in no mood for an interesting conversation, and said, with indifference, "You-all ought to know, 'cause you done called it."—Youth's Companion.
